

IMPORTANT NOTICE

This is an important and legally binding document. You should consider to seek independent professional advice beforehand for protecting your own rights and interests. Please read the following provisions carefully and make sure you understand them.

Defined terms used in the Currency Linked Deposits Terms and Conditions (see below) shall have the same meaning in the following Risk Disclosure Statements save as otherwise provided.

Risk Disclosure Statements:

- Not a time deposit – Currency Linked Deposit is NOT equivalent to, nor should it be treated as a substitute for, time deposit. It is NOT a protected deposit and is NOT protected by the Deposit Protection Scheme of Hong Kong.
- Derivatives risk – Currency Linked Deposit is embedded with a foreign exchange put option sold by you as the investor. Option transactions involve risks, especially when selling an option. Although the premium received from selling an option is fixed, you may sustain a loss well in excess of such premium amount, and your loss could be substantial.
- Limited potential gain – The maximum potential gain is limited to contract interest amount.
- Maximum potential loss – Currency Linked Deposit is not principal protected: you could lose all of your deposit amount and the contract interest amount in extraordinary circumstances where the Linked Currency becomes worthless.
- Not the same as buying the Linked Currency – Investing in Currency Linked Deposit is not the same as buying the Linked Currency directly. If you buy the Linked Currency with Deposit Currency and deposit for the same tenor as a Currency Linked Deposit, you will receive the deposit interest but expose to an exchange gain or loss on the Maturity Date depending on the exchange rate movement of the Linked Currency against the Deposit Currency during the deposit period. If you invest in Currency Linked Deposit, the Bank will compare the Strike Rate with the Fixing Rate on the Fixing Date. If the Linked Currency has appreciated against the Deposit Currency or the Fixing Rate is equal to the Strike Rate, you will receive the Principal and the contract interest amount in Deposit Currency but NOT the Linked Currency. Your return on investing in Currency Linked Deposit is limited to contract interest amount. If the Linked Currency has depreciated against the Deposit Currency, you will receive the Principal and the contract interest amount in Linked Currency, being converted from the Deposit Currency at the Strike Rate. Your return on this investment (be it positive or negative) will be similar to having bought the Linked Currency with Deposit Currency at the Strike Rate at start plus the contract interest amount.
- Market risk – The return of Currency Linked Deposit is linked to the exchange rates of the Deposit Currency against the Linked Currency. Movements in exchange rates can be unpredictable, sudden and drastic, and affected by, among others, complex political and economic factors. The currencies of emerging countries may be volatile when measured against other currencies. Any such exchange rate movement may adversely affect your potential gain or loss under a Currency Linked Deposit.
- Liquidity risk – Currency Linked Deposit is designed to be held till maturity. You do not have a right to request for early termination of this product or request the Bank to close your position before maturity. You shall not assign, mortgage, transfer, dispose of, charge, pledge or otherwise encumber any of your title or interest of and in the Currency Linked Deposit other than to the Bank to secure the liabilities of you or any other person in favour of the Bank as the Bank may agree at its sole discretion from time to time.
- Credit risk of the Bank – Currency Linked Deposit is not secured by any collateral. When you invest in this product, you will be relying on the Bank's creditworthiness. If the Bank becomes insolvent or defaults on its obligations under this product, you can only claim as an unsecured creditor of the Bank. In the worst case, you could suffer a total loss of your deposit amount and contract interest amount.
- Currency risk – If the Deposit Currency and/or Linked Currency is not in your home currency, and you choose to convert it back to your home currency upon maturity, you may make a gain or loss due to exchange rate fluctuations.
- Risks of early termination by the Bank – The Bank has the right (but not the obligation) to terminate this product early for compliance with the legal and/or regulatory requirements or as the Bank may deem as prudent. In case this product is early terminated by the Bank, you will have to bear the relevant costs of unwinding the put option sold previously. Such costs may be as substantially high as your total deposit amount.
- Adjustment risk – Upon the occurrence of certain events (such as revaluation of an underlying currency, substitution of an underlying currency by another currency or the imposition of foreign exchange control affecting the Deposit Currency/ Linked Currency), the Bank may adjust the terms of the Currency Linked Deposit to account for the effect of such event (such as payment postponement or substituting the original deliverable currency by another currency selected by the Bank). The adjustment as determined by the Bank may have negative impact on your investment under the Currency Linked Deposit.
- Risks relating to Renminbi – If the Deposit Currency or Linked Currency of a Currency Linked Deposit is CNH*, the value of CNH against other foreign currencies (including Hong Kong Dollars) will fluctuate and will be affected by, amongst other things, the control directives, policy and/or measures from the Government of the People's Republic of China, its legal or regulatory institutes/bodies ('the PRC government') on Renminbi from time to time. For example, the PRC government regulates conversion between onshore Renminbi ('CNY') and foreign currencies (including Hong Kong Dollars). This would affect the value of CNH because both CNY and CNH are Renminbi but traded in different and separate markets. Renminbi is currently not freely convertible. There is no assurance that disruption in the transferability, convertibility or liquidity of Renminbi will not occur. As CNY and CNH markets operate independently where the flow between them is highly restricted, CNY and CNH are currently traded at different exchange rates and their movements may not be in the same direction or scale. CNH may be trading at a premium or discount to CNY and there may be significant bid and offer spreads.
- Concentration risk – You should avoid over concentration in investing in a type of investment product and/or particular issuer or counterparty.
- No Post-sale cooling-off period – Post-sale cooling-off period does not apply to Currency Linked Deposit.
- Not exhaustive list – The risks stated above are not and are not intended to be exhaustive in referring to all the risks involved. You are advised to seek independent professional advice as appropriate.

*CNH is the currency code for offshore Renminbi or Chinese Yuan. Renminbi or Chinese Yuan is the legal tender of the People's Republic of China. In determining the relevant exchange rate under the Currency Linked Deposit which involves Renminbi, you should note that the relevant offshore Renminbi exchange rate but NOT onshore Renminbi exchange rate will be applied.

- (b) if on the basis of a comparison between the Fixing Rate and the Strike Rate on the Fixing Date, the Linked Currency has depreciated against the Deposit Currency, at the Bank’s option (which may be exercised by the Bank at its absolute discretion no later than the time specified in the relevant Confirmation on the Fixing Date as the time of expiry of the exercise of such option), the Bank shall pay to the Customer the relevant Principal and interest on such Principal at the contract interest rate stated in the Confirmation converted into the relevant Linked Currency at the applicable Strike Rate.
- 8.2 Interest on the Principal shall accrue and be payable in arrears on the Maturity Date, which shall be calculated on the basis of the actual number of days elapsed (including the first day but excluding the last day of the tenor during which it accrues) and a 360/365 day year, depending on the “day count” convention applicable by market practice to the relevant Deposit Currency, as determined by the Bank at its sole discretion in good faith.
- 8.3 If, for any reason, the Maturity Date and / or Fixing Date originally specified for a Currency Linked Deposit is not a Banking Day, then it shall be postponed to the following Banking Day, and additional interest will accrue on the relevant Principal at the Bank’s ordinary savings deposit rate for the Deposit Currency of that Currency Linked Deposit (which may be different from the interest rate specified in the Confirmation) for each day from, and including, the originally specified Maturity Date to, but excluding, the actual Maturity Date, which shall be determined by the Bank at its sole discretion.
